Respect the Pterosaur
Still We Have Vice
Homes for Colored People
Bootleg Drama

A extinct pterosaur skeleton
In Oregon should have a place in the Smithsonian Institution beside Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

Replicas of the pterosaur family are the first things that ever flew on this earth, ahead of the Wright Brothers by many millions of years.

First they flew as reptiles, scaly, unpleasant. Then they developed feathers seen on the archopteryx. Discovered in Germany.

Then came real birds.
They were originally the most intelligent, outstripping animals, knowing enough to get off the earth, out of harm's way.
But being safe they stopped thinking. Now birds are not intelligent.

Man, who never flew until lately, had to stay on the ground with his weak hands, small teeth and no claws, dodging everything. Fear made him think, and thinking made him boss of the planet. Remember that in your business.

New York appointed fourteen to investigate vice, and the fourteen report conditions
"simply terrible."

Night clubs are worse than old "Raines law" hotels. "Dance studios," are studios of vice, and hostesses of clubs, doubtless with honorable exceptions, represent an ancient profession, as well left undescribed.

The thousands of speakeries in New York are worse than the thousands of saloons used to be, because the doors are not open.

In short, you get the impression that passing a law doesn't change human nature.

In northern cities, where large colonies of colored men and women are permanently established, financiers will not lend on apartments built for negroes. Colored people have been compelled to live in dilap-dated tenements, paying high rents, more than whites had paid. The system has been demoralizing, unjust, harmful to whites as well as blacks.

John D. Rockefeller, in New York City, and Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, set a good example, supplying apartments, well built,
at reasonable rentals for colored families.

Mr. Rosenwald will invest $2,500,000 in an apartment to house 400 negro families.
Tenants will pay lower rents than before, and the investment will pay 6 per cent interest.

In New York, in a district already occupied by colored people, Mr. Rockefeller has built an even larger building, the Paul Lawrence Dunbar Apartments, for negroes.

White men brought the colored people here as slaves against their will, and it is the business of civilized white men to see that they are treated decently and have fair opportunities.

Bootlegging under prohibition is at least dramatic.
One bootleg gangster, Frankie Uale, was murdered by other gangsters.

Prospero Petrosino, brilliant detective, tried to identify Uale's killers, supposed to have been sent to New York from Chicago.

As Petrosino sat at dinner on Sunday night, bullets came through his dining room window from an automobile flying past.

The stake involved in these killings, and counter-killings amounts to $1,000,000 a year at least. Prohibition authorities, hardened, admit that recently
"raw" quantities of rum had been diverted from government warehouses. 100,000 gallons in our case.

The Republicans deny that

WOMEN ALL GREET HER EAGERLY

Along a parade route lined with women and children, Amelia Earhart, "Lindy Girl," and her co-aviators, Wilmer Stultz and Lori Gordon were confected in triumph today for a wild reception in Medford.
In a ratio of about 20 to 1
the applauding, cheering women and children predominated as the parade advanced from Boston through Cambridge and Somerville to Medford, where exercises were held on the Fulton at Athletic grounds.

At Medford, the whole city turned out and celebrated joyously, enthusiastically and with all the noise and jollity that Amelia's "home town"

DENISON HOUSE CHILDREN ALL WANT TO KISS HER AT ONCE.
Three hundred tots of all sorts and descriptions showed their love for Amelia Earhart in a remarkable demonstration of their own when she visited Denison House today, and here we see a happy bunch of them flocking about her just before she whizzed away to Medford's big welcome-home celebration. "I wish I could take them all with me," she said.

DR. BIGELOW IN LEE BATTLING EPIDEMIC

All the resources of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts were loosed today to combat the epidemic of typhoid fever, which has arrived in Lee and assumed charge of the situation. More than 500 cases of septicaemia have been reported in Lee in the Berkshires. The city of deaths has amounted to 14.

REVENGE IS SEEN IN CHELSEA SLAYING; HUNT ON FOR MYSTERY MAN

Mysteriously slain, Earl M. Small, 54, married, of Third st., Everett watchman at the plant of Gordon & Gerber, metal dealers, Third st., Chelsea, was found today face down, on the office floor with a jagged, gaping wound in his forehead.
There was no robbery and no apparent motive for the crime, but police suspect a feud with revenge playing a part in the mystery.

A few hours before Small's body was found, a man who gave his name as Joseph Canic and his address as Bates st., Revere, appeared at Chelsea Memorial Hospital for treatment for head wounds, explaining he was hit with a club.

Acting on the theory that Canic might know something of the attack given him at any place in that

5 DOOMED SURVIVORS OF ITALIA GOING MAD

Stockholm, July 10 (AP)—The five survivors of the Italia are all ill with fever and most of them show signs of partial insanity, according to word received today from the Swedish rescue ship, Quist. Little hope is held for their immediate recovery. Their morale is low.

Lieut. Knut-Paul Lundberg, who was marooned on the ice near Spitzbergen Island with them for 13 days, said that his stay was terrifying.

New Bedford, July 10 (AP)—Curabout the strike and the order for the release of 30 National Guardians held in reserve resulted today from a sharp reduction in the picket lines and the continued absence of disorder. Few, if any, of those who have been arrested 12 weeks against a 10 per cent reduction returned to work this morning when for the second successive day the manufacturers opened the mill gates.

Historic Medford Opens Arms To City's Most Famous Daughter At Great Celebration Today

PARADE ROUTE IS RIOT OF COLOR

READY TO WELCOME

HOLDING RECEPTION BADGE

At the Central Fire Station, Main and South sts., Medford, apparatus will be drawn up in the doorways and the regular department siren-whistle will welcome Miss Amelia Earhart as she passes on her way to a memorial on the high school grounds, Forest st.

Miss Esther Horgan of the City Messenger's office showing the badge which will be worn by the Medford city fathers who will officially extend greetings of welcome to the first girl to fly across the Atlantic.

All along the streets through which Miss Amelia Earhart passes in today's celebration of her safe return to her home city after the broad Atlantic, buildings will be brilliantly decorated. One of the hand-drawn displays of color is to be seen on the new telephone building on Salem st., where the girls of the exchange are to greet the first of their sex to cross the ocean in an airplane.

Mayor Larkin and his wife, who today take prominent part in the welcome home celebration in Medford is expecting to see Miss Earhart.

AMELIA'S NEW EUROPEAN CLOTHES ARE CRITICISED

BETTER LIKED

Former neighbors of Amelia Earhart in West Medford, where she lived for three years before moving to Princeton st., South Medford, last May, think Amelia is really lots prettier than she looks in her European clothes.

This was their verdict, expressed today after having seen the slim aviator on her triumphant return home.

The Earhart family, mother and two daughters, lived on Brooks st., in a home owned by Mrs. Frank C. Coffman, who lives a few doors away. Although neighbors frequently saw Amelia and Muriel, they did not know them well, as the girls were away most of the time. "Amelia is a splendid girl and there's not a person who can say anything against her," said Mrs. Coffman.

She was very quiet and reserved and I did not even know she was interested in flying until my son, David J. R. Coffman, who was in the air service in France, told me.

"I do not like the clothes that Amelia brought in London. They look as if they were designed for a woman, not for a girl of Amelia's type."

The hat especially distorts her really beautiful face. She is a pretty girl when she wears a soft hat like she used to wear around. The new one makes her face look angular and adds some years to her age.

It was seen Amelia look much better in the clothes she used to wear while driving her Yellow Peril, or her house dresses, and also in her street clothes. I imagine that she cares so little for clothes that she put herself in the hands of a modiste in whom she had confidence, with the result that in appearance Amelia is not the girl we know.

The family was very quiet. The girls were away most of the time. Amelia with her settlement work and Muriel with her studying and teaching. Folk here now regret they did not learn to know the family better. Mrs. Earhart was quiet, but we found she has a very beautiful character.

MAN HANGS SELF IN SPRINGFIELD CELL

Springfield, July 10.—Joseph Pate, 42, of North Groverdale, Ct., attempted suicide by hanging in his cell at the Ludlow police station. When he became unconscious the weight of his body snapped the cord which he had wound around his neck.

He was not attributed to depression because he was under arrest and awaiting arraignment in Springfield District Court on complaint of drunkenness and carrying a loaded revolver.

This may be a yellow peril but Amelia thinks it is a yellow delight. She is holding tiny Norman W. 2, son of a Tyler st. citizen of Oriental ancestry. Normand, though, as his name denotes, is all-American and proud of it, but prouder of Amelia.

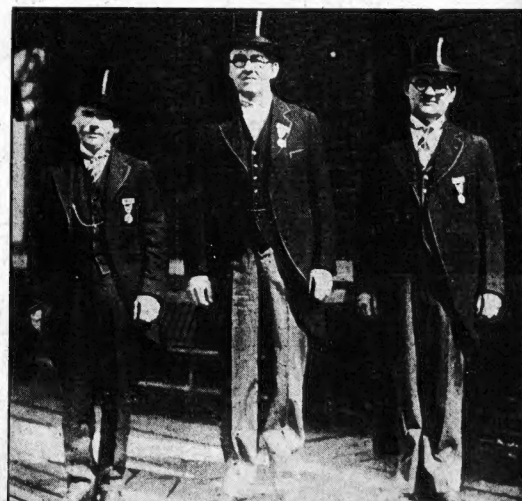

Regina O'Hearn, granddaughter of Mayor Larkin of Medford, who presented Miss Earhart with a bouquet at the Medford welcoming ceremonies.

That young America went wild with enthusiasm when it welcomed its Amelia back to Denison House today may be gathered from this exceptional photo of what happened there today. Miss Earhart was almost smothered by the happy youngsters in their frenzied efforts to grasp her hand.

BOSTON AMERICAN GENERAL NEWS SECTION

BOSTON, TUESDAY, JULY 10, 1928

Auto Paint From 'Silk' Dresses--But How Much?

Chicago, July 10 (AP)—When that artificial silk dress has made its last trip to the bathroom or the market place, it will not be good to discard into an excellent automobile paint, Paul C. Trimble, general manager of the National Association of Dye and Chemists, said today in the discovery at the association's institute at Washington, in addressing the organization's midweek session today. "We've had to use our wife plenty to keep up with the times," he said, "virtually all of these new substitutes for silk that make imitation silk dresses possible for the average woman, if we used the same chemical used to clean silk, we destroyed the garment completely."

UNIDENTIFIED BODY

FOUND IN CHANNEL
The body of an unidentified man about 45 years old, was found floating in Faneuil Channel on the south side of Broadway bridge. The man is described as 5 feet, 8 inches tall, 125 pounds, light complexion, blue eyes and brown hair. He was dressed in a gray coat, blue trousers and a blue work shirt. Patrolmen John Piuselli and John Dunn of the East Boston station recovered the body from the water after it had been sighted by divers.

Some women are SENSITIVE about it...

Some women would be embarrassed almost to tears. And we venture to say that there is no woman in the world who would care to admit to everyone that the joint between the large toe and the foot is growing larger.

Such things lead to bunions. And bunions are painful—and ugly.

Coward has devised a shoe which a woman can take into her confidence as she would an old friend. It deliberately conceals the enlarged joint. It has an inbuilt pocket of just the right size. So comfortable! And really, quite nice looking with its trim lines and its pretty mat inserts. Choose black or tan kid.

ROBINSON ASKS FOR BIG DRIVE IN SOUTH

New York, July 10 (AP)—Establishment of a Democratic campaign bureau in some southern state to defeat the national Democratic ticket was advocated by Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas in a statement today.

The statement of the Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency follows in part:

"The selection of a national chairman and the conclusions as to what organizations are required, and how and where they shall be set up, are of very great importance. Too much stress cannot be laid on the value of an organization that shall extend its activities to every part of the country."

"I would like to have the committee give attention to the proposal to establish a bureau of headquarters at some central point in one of the southern states for the direction of the campaign in the South. Conditions in that section are very different from those which have prevailed in other national campaigns. An organized effort is in progress in several Southern States to defeat the national Democratic ticket, and while the force and volume of this movement is not yet known, I am of the opinion that sound policies should prompt the national managers to meet this opposition decisively and promptly."

"The best manner in which to offer the opposition in the South for the first time, largely for determining by the national committee, and it might be that some effective manner other than that herein suggested will be devised. I wish to give emphasis to the advisability of meeting the conditions referred to aggressively."

"The energy and enthusiasm of the Democrats of New York which must be manifest to everyone is a tribute to Governor Smith, whose personal magnetism and genuine interest in the welfare of the masses makes him the outstanding personality in the politics of our time."

Democrats Have $200,000 for Start of Campaign

New York, July 10 (AP)—The first report of Jesse H. Jones as director of finances of the Democratic national committee tomorrow will show that the new campaign will have about $200,000 to start on. In a statement today in which he summarized the report he will make to the national committee tomorrow, Jones said that since January, 1925, $100,000 had been received from all sources. Of this amount $200,000 was contributed by citizens of Illinois for the convention fund and $44,000 came from convention contributions. The expenses of the convention were about $44,000. No part of the convention fund, he said, was used to pay the 1924 deficit.

Read Secs Prohibition Big Issue in Missouri Race

St. Louis, Mo., July 10 (DNB)—Senator James A. Reed, supporting his successor the candidacy of James A. Collett, of Baltimore, last night over that of Charles M. J. Missouri "dry" leader, issued a statement here today in which he said that prohibition would be the issue in the Democratic primary here next month.

The Reed statement was based on by political observers here as splitting the Democratic ranks in Missouri who open over the issue question. It also was looked upon as the beginning of animosity between Reed and Hays, long political and personal enemies.

Cal's Fish Frier Hops From Frying Pan to Fire in Love Suit

Milwaukee, July 10 (AP)—A recent fryer has for President Coolidge and going to court to prevent the action of Ernest Gillette, fryer, fish.

Gillette, employed by the Summer White House kitchen at Ocean Island Lodge, wrote the Milwaukee Circuit court that he would be unable to appear to answer charges of desertion and cruelty filed by his wife. He said to do so might cost him his job.

The court ordered the letter as an answer in the case and directed Gillette to fry enough fish to assure Mrs. Gillette $15 weekly separate maintenance allowance.

DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVING COST HIGH FOR 7

Eight alleged drunken drivers faced East Cambridge court today, six drawing fines totaling $135, one month in jail and another acquitted.

George Tove, Jr., 8, of Wadsworth St., Cambridge, 4, of Mt. Auburn St., Cambridge, was sentenced to a month in jail for drunken driving. Thomas P. Coyne, 23, of Raymond St., Cambridge, $100 for drunken driving and a like amount for driving as to endanger the lives of the public; William A. Belcher, of Waverley St., Somerville, $15 for drunken driving and $10 for driving charge; Peter Smith, 42, of Cleveland St., Arlington, $100 for drunken driving; John J. Matheson of Gorham St., Somerville, an equal amount; and Simon Fara of Los Angeles St., Newton, $50 on the driving charge, $10 for faulty brakes and $10 for drunkenness.

ESCAPES DEATH IN 60-FT. FALL

Stockbridge, July 10—Falling 60 feet over a cliff at Ice Glen, Franklin C. Downing, Jr., 15, son of Dr. Downing, missed death by inches. He happened to land on a small spot among big boulders. It was also announced that J. H. Smith of the national committee, headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union today said is dead.

54 PONTOONS SENT TO AID BRITISH CRUISER

Two dozen pontoons were sent from the Charleston navy yard to Halifax, N. B., to assist in salvaging the British cruiser, Dauntless, that went on the rocks. The pontoons were sent by request of the British government. They were the ones used in salvaging the S-4.

For New Belgrade Cabinet

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, July 10 (AP)—Unable to get political leaders in the capital to agree upon a new cabinet, King Alexander has turned to his minister to Germany, Zdravko Pantic. The minister has been ordered to return to Belgrade and take up the task of constructing a cabinet.

NOTIFICATION TO CURTIS ON AUGUST 18

Washington, July 10 (AP)—The date for notification of Senator Curtis of Kansas of his vice-presidential nomination by the Republicans was fixed today for August 18.

The election which will follow by one week the notification of Herbert Hoover will be held in Topeka, Kansas, home of Senator Curtis. The vice-presidential election is now in the notification committee. The National Committee of the Republican Party today also announced today that Representative Thion of Connecticut would serve as secretary of the party in New York. The office will be under the direction of Representative Newton of Minnesota, who is director of the Republican speakers' bureau for the campaign, with headquarters in Chicago. It was also announced that J. H. Smith of Cleveland, the new treasurer of the national committee, would maintain his headquarters in Cleveland with additional offices in Chicago and New York.

W. C. T. U. Says Hoover Can Lose East and Be Elected

Evansville, Ind., July 10 (AP)—A statement issued from national headquarters of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union today said is dead.

Scouts to Give 'Al' Granddad of All Brown Derbies

New York, July 10 (AP)—Gov. Smith will own the largest brown derby in the world. Boy Scouts arranged for the presentation of the headpiece to the governor's annual visit to their camp at Bear Mountain today.

The derby is five feet long and four feet high. It follows the approved lines of the Bowers "holly" of forty-four years ago. The rim is flat and wide enough for bicyclists to ride on.

Herbert Hoover could lose most of the East and still be elected President next November. The Republican nominee might be defeated in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey and still win a majority of the nation's electoral votes, the statement said.

Two or three west neighborhoods in a state do not give the state to Tammany," the W. C. T. U. officers asserted, citing figures to show that 51 "wet" votes in congress came from scattered districts in 15 states.

The temperance union also declared that women of the middle west are organizing "almost entire" by an anti-Tammy basis.

R. I. Heat Victim Dead

Providence, R. I., July 10 (AP)—James Murray, taken to the Rhode Island Hospital yesterday afternoon, prostrated by the heat, died.

CHELSEA AUTOS CALLED BAD 'RISKS'

"Chelsea is the worst city in the state for motor vehicle insurance. For every dollar that insurance companies collect in that city they have to pay out $1.75 in damage claims, resulting from accidents of their insured."

Insurance Commissioner Wesley E. Monk made this comment today, while sitting as chairman of the state board of appeal on the petition of Jacob Bookstein for reinstatement of his automobile insurance, cancelled by the New Hampshire Mutual Insurance Company.

"I do not know what the rates in Chelsea will be next year," the commissioner added, but they may be as high as those in the city will be able to own an automobile."

Frank E. Swift, representing the company, told the board Bookstein has been involved in five accidents within a period of seven months. Four of which resulted in suits.

Harry Ehrlich, counsel for Bookstein, sought to convince the board through two witnesses that his client is a careful driver.

Later in executive session the board found Bookstein is not a proper risk and the cancellation of his policy was reasonable. The finding means Bookstein will be re-insured by the National Fund motor vehicle insurance, in Capital today from the next year, which stripped it for nearly a week.

GIRLS FLEE AS STEER DIVES IN WINDOW

Scholesmen and girl clerks scattered in fright today as a runaway steer plunged through a plate glass window into the sales office of the Sterling Motor Truck Co., North Beacon st., Boston.

The fright was turned to great relief when the animal turned and dove out again through another large window.

The steer was caught near the railroad bridge where it fell. It landed, having run from a point on Market st., while on the way to the abattoir. It was severely cut by the fall.

BAG CONTAINING $5,000 IN GEMS IS STOLEN

A jewelry salesman's stock bag containing $5,000 worth of gems was stolen as soon as he had left it down and turned his back for a fraction of a second.

The victim was Arthur H. Moon, traveling for a Newark concern. He was about to show his wares in a shop at 42-46 Summer st. when the theft occurred.

Washington Cools Off

Washington, July 10 (AP)—A drop of twenty degrees in temperature in 16 from the maximum reached yesterday brought relief to the National Fund motor vehicle insurance, in Capital today from the next year, which stripped it for nearly a week.

"A delicate subject —but these girls must be told" —a dean of women says

Unfortunately this delicate subject is seldom discussed. Now, a new, patented process deodorizes this scientific sanitary pad completely

EVEN among girls who are very frank with each other, there is a question of delicateness, of fastidious personal care that is unfortunately seldom mentioned. Yet many women are unconsciously guilty. At certain times they are seriously offensive to others. With realization comes constant fear and worry.

Today these fears are ended. Science has discovered a way to counteract this offense.

Kotex now completely deodorizes* Kotex has brought a new idea of feminine hygiene to women all over the world. In the past ten years they have learned new comfort, new ease of mind through this sanitary protection. Now, after years of work, a process has been perfected that completely, amazingly ends all odors. In Kotex laboratories the

- one remaining problem in connection with sanitary pads is solved.
- Shaped to fit, too*
Because corners of the pad are rounded and tapered, it may be worn without evidence under the most clinging gown. There is none of that conspicuous bulkiness so often associated with old-fashioned methods. And you can adjust the filler, make it thinner, thicker, narrower —to suit your own special needs. It is easily disposed of, no laundering is necessary. A new process makes it softer than ever before.
- Buy a box today... 45c for a box of twelve. On sale at all drug, dry goods and department stores, also, through vending cabinets in rest-rooms.
- *Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,470,567, granted May 22, 1928.)
- Deodorizes... and 4 other important features:
- 1—Softer gauze ends chafing delicate filler absorbs as no other substance can;
 - 2—Corners are rounded and tapered; no evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;
 - 3—Deodorizes—safely, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;
 - 4—Adjust it to your needs; filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower as required; and
 - 5—It is easily disposed of; no unpleasant laundry.

Managua, Nicaragua, July 10 (AP)—Thousands of young men here today have accepted amnesty and surrendered without arms to the marine post at Occotal, Nueva Segovia. A demonstration of good will toward the marines was made by natives of Telepacana, Nueva Segovia, in commemoration of the American Independence Day. They placed wreaths they had made themselves in the graves of Pats James T. Haer and Lenton C. Gove, both of whom died from wounds in a fight with rebels last September.

CUBAN FLIER REPORTED ON FLIGHT TO MEXICO

El Paso, Tex., July 10 (AP)—A pilot from Mexico City to El Comienzo, Spanish language newspaper here, says that reports have been received in the Mexican capital that Lieut. Frederico Campuzano starts last night on a Cuba-Mexico flight. He was said to have started from the Mexican aviator, Flier had postponed his projected flight to Cuba. The Cuban flier carried good-will messages from the Cubans to the Mexican government.

WALKER RAPS MOVIE HEADS IN POLITICS

Hollywood, Cal., July 10 (AP)—Addressing the publicity men of the motion picture world, Mayor James J. Walker of New York last night said that the industry "has been delivered into the camp of one of the major political parties."

The New York mayor declared that if the film industry allowed its neutrality to be violated in the 1928 presidential campaign, it must "accept the consequences of such participation if it chooses wrong."

The New York executive mentioned no names in his address, although several prominent motion picture men are Republicans. They include Louis B. Mayer, who attended the recent Kansas City convention as a delegate; Joseph Schenck, a producer, who is a member of the Republican state caucus committee; and Will H. Hays, head of the motion picture producers and distributors.

And if you know anything about aviation," he said, "you know that no matter how high you fly you must come down to earth to eat."

The visiting mayor said he preferred to believe that the individuals who make up the industry are not so enslaved that they can be handed over; and that two or three men prominent in the industry were not strong enough to owe the influence of the screen, in one direction or the other politically. "It seems to me," he said, "that they would realize how silly it is for the motion picture industry to dabble in politics. These motion picture producers must remember that due to the influence of the screen, in one direction or the other politically, they are the pursuit of a portion of the industry would be ruinous to the industry."

NEWSPAPERS SUPREME FOR ADVERTISING

Detroit, July 10 (INS)—Newspapers are the best advertising medium, according to William H. Rankin, nationally-known advertising man. He declared in an address before the International Advertising Association that, as an advertising medium, the newspaper's place is more secure today than at any time in the last 25 years.

Rankin said during the last five years newspapers "have emerged triumphantly" in meeting all kinds of new competition—radio and the other forms of advertising.

Edwin H. Littel, executive vice-president of H. H. Hays & Co., Inc., of New York, told the convention many merchants have arrived at the conclusion advertisements of special sales based on price appeal "are extremely limited in usefulness."

"Price appeal is no longer sufficient," he said. "It must be supplemented by the style appeal."

JARDINE LL, MUST REST

Washington, July 10 (INS)—Secretary of Agriculture James H. McLaughlin has been ordered by his physicians to give up all active life for at least two months. He is planning to leave about August 1 on an extended visit to Alaska.

Although his friends say his condition is not serious they frankly admit he is worn down from his close application to work during the last session of Congress.

It is expected he will not be able to participate in the campaign this fall unless he recovers his strength sufficiently to make one or two radio speeches immediately before election.

NATIONAL GUARD FLIER KILLED IN MINNESOTA

Port Snelling, Minn., July 10 (AP)—Lieut. M. Samuel Forber, 22, of St. Paul, was killed when his airplane went into a tall pine tree and crashed in a corn field near Mendota. The crash occurred when Forber was instructing a student, Hugo Long, who escaped with slight injuries. Lieut. Forber was a member of the air squadron of the Minnesota National guard.

JUDGE SEES LOEWENSTEIN DEATH AS AN ACCIDENT

Brussels, July 10 (AP)—Judge de la Rume, who presided at the investigation into the disappearance of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, believes that accidental death seems to be the most logical explanation of the mystery. He refused to give a death certificate, however, since the mystery developed in an English plane in French territorial waters, and Belgian authorities were unable to act.

CHARLES S. CARSTAIRS, U. S. ART EXPERT, DEAD

New York, July 10 (AP)—Charles S. Carstairs, 42, of Philadelphia, well known art connoisseur, died last night at his home, Englewood, Pa., following a heart attack several weeks ago, according to word received here today. He was chairman of the board of directors of M. Knoedler & Co., Inc., of New York, London and Paris, and one of the chief buyers for the last sale of Henry Clay Frick, Joseph Widener and A. M. Byers of Pittsburgh. A wife, two sons and a daughter survive. All are now in Europe.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF U. S. MAN IN VIENNA

Vienna, July 10 (INS)—Police who are investigating the death of a supposed American man, John Stinson Kaestner, expressed belief today he had been murdered. The body was found in a bath. A New York mission prayer book in the pocket bore the name of John Stinson.

Broker Kills Himself

New York, July 10 (INS)—Henry L. Buckley, 42, wealthy real estate broker, was found shot to death in his apartment in Brooklyn today. Police found two notes, and declared the case suicide. A revolver was found beside the body.

50 CATHOLICS ARRESTED IN MEXICO

Mexico City, July 10 (AP)—Fifty Roman Catholics, including Jose Revuelto, a priest, were arrested today charged with violating the religious laws. Police said they were found in a private residence fitted with an altar and the necessary equipment for conducting mass.

A quantity of literature was seized and is being examined to determine whether it is subversive. Escalante today printed a dispatch from Jalisco, State of Mexico, saying insurgents had taken charge of San Juan, a federal deputy, his brother, Carlos, and the mayor of the town of Tzucumuc. The insurgents under Ladislao Melia attacked a passenger train between Tzucumuc and Atoyac and took the men from it. They then threatened to burn down the railroad.

Study This Utility Booklet

Prepared and Distributed by

Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information

HERE is the Ohio counterpart of the Connecticut "Public Utilities Catechism," compiled by the Connecticut State propaganda organization, distributed among the public school children and recently thrown out of the schools of Bridgeport.

This 54-page Ohio booklet, "Aladdin of Industry," distributed free to 85,000 Ohio school students, and used in 650 high schools, deals with electric light and power, gas, telephone and electric railway industries.

Fred J. Bollmeyer, director of the Ohio committee on Public Utility Information, in his last annual report, said of this booklet:

"As a result, Ohio students for the first time are receiving accurate and useful instruction in these important industries."

One of the things they are taught in "Aladdin of Industry" is that public utilities do not make any "profit" because they are so strictly regulated by public service commissions.

"Aladdin of Industry" was introduced in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the so-called Power Trust.

As to the large amount of free space which the Ohio Committee on Public Utility Information gets for its propaganda in the news and editorial columns of the Ohio paper, Fred J. Bollmeyer, its director, in the organization's last report, says:

"More than 10,000 columns of the committee's news material has been reprinted by newspapers. More than 200 editorials, based upon the committee's material, have been printed by Ohio newspapers. Speakers have been supplied clubs, schools and business organizations. Thousands of questions about the utilities have been answered. The committee sent out 300,000 pamphlets, bulletins and reports in its effort to build better public relations for the utilities. Articles attempting to discredit ownership in general, and Boulder Dam in particular, are a feature of the committee's news material."

'X' PLATES ARE EXPLAINED IN SAFETY DRIVE

By FRANK A. GOODWIN

Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Automobiles bearing "X" plates are beginning to appear on our highways. The average person does not know what the plates mean. Many inquiries have been made.

These "X" plates are summer registrations issued to the owners of cars who live outside the State, and that demands explanation.

Any motor vehicle owned by a non-resident of Massachusetts, registered in any other State or foreign country, may be operated on the highways of Massachusetts without being registered here for as long a period as the State from which it comes allows a Motorist.

Frank A. Goodwin, chassis registered car to be operated without registration within its borders.

The great trouble with this law, however, comes from the definition of "non-resident." So far as passenger automobiles are concerned, if the out-of-State owner has a place of business in Massachusetts, or takes up a residence in the Commonwealth for more than 30 days, he ceases to be a "non-resident."

Therefore, in order to make proper provisions for visiting vacationists who come here to live for a period of more than 30 days, as thousands do annually, they are permitted to get summer registrations for one-half the regular fee.

These special registrations are good for any part of July, August and September. When such a registration is issued two number plates are given to the applicant with an X appearing before the numbers.

The most complicated phase of the motor vehicle law is the determination of the rights of out-of-State owners and operators. This is made more involved because the different laws in different States.

Until last year, Connecticut would only allow a Massachusetts car to be operated within its borders for 15 days without registration. Hence our officers were compelled to establish the same limit with Connecticut cars. Last year the law in Connecticut was changed to 31 days and is now the same as our law.

Charlie Paddock in Track Fans Rejoice
A Great Competitor
By NICK FLATLEY

PADDOCK ONE OF GREATEST COMPETITORS

THE Olympic committee, having let the Paddock out of the bag, in a manner of speaking, was very wise to capture the animal quickly and toss it overboard before the team sailed for Amsterdam. Charlie, who has been sprinting for the past 14 years, won his place against the greatest dash competition that ever was assembled at one and the same time.

Any protest, after the trials, was unfair on the face of it. An athlete with standing in question, should have been tried before he had the chance to shut out other stars. The ways of Olympic committees are strange. Matters, like the Paddock protest, that should be settled quickly and tossed in the ashcan, are allowed to drag along.

It was all one of those things. Certain elements, strong in A. A. U. circles, have been opposed to Paddock, who never has been the obedient and subservient child that an amateur athlete is supposed to be. A lot of underground rumor was started, long before the try-outs, in the hope, probably, that something would crop up to implicate the effervescent Mister Paddock.

Nothing did, but the rumors spread so far and wide that they couldn't be squelched. The protest was announced, the case settled in five days. We'll say for the Olympic committee members that this once they acted wisely and quickly in a case that might have left a bad taste had it been handled in the usual conservative manner.

Charlie Paddock is a popular idol. The announcement that he had finished second in the 200 finals at the Stadium drew as wild a shout as the hair-raising victories of Lloyd Hahn and Lemmond, victors in their own backyard. The Paddock ovation was noisier than the greeting accorded Edward Hamm, when he cracked the world's jump record.

Popularity means nothing in Holland, but it counts here at home. And Paddock is one of the greatest competitors that any sport has known. His spirit will help the team, even if it doesn't place himself. Which, more than likely, he will.

LINDY AND MISS AMELIA HAVE MADE THE ALL-TIME OLYMPIC FLYING TEAM.

Brothers there a man with soul as deep
Who never to himself has said:
Who can't I do the things I dream
And act with our Olympic team?

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE PUT ON THE PAN

YOU'D be surprised to gauge the interest in this Olympiad. Letters, phones and the living voice keep arriving to boost or knock, every athlete, as the case may be. The sporting heart of America will be in Holland when our athletes get away over there.

The following letter expresses a criticism that was in the mind of many, after the team selections were announced:

The St. Louis College of the Speeches Wood today sent telegrams to Daniel J. Fretz, chairman, American Olympic committee, and to Walter Patrick J. Walsh, chairman of the selection committee, protesting the action of the committee in the leaving of Vernon H. Booth of the Illinois A. C. and John Zola of the Meadowbrook Club and Gerald Martin of Purdue College.

The action was taken after the summer student body had by unanimous vote condemned the action of the committee as being unfair to the athletes.

The telegrams were signed by Dr. William B. Burns of the college and read as follows:

"St. Louis college deplorable decision of Olympic committee eliminating Vernon H. Booth and John Zola in the 1000 meters, also Gerald Martin in the 1500 meters. These boys won place fairly and squarely. Both events were run in record time. The young men of America believe that the privileges to represent their country is only won by fair competition. But once won it should not be taken from them. The four winners in all other events are being taken. By the same ruling these boys should go. Don't break the hearts of these American boys who gave their all to qualify and did qualify. Your action had for future spirit of Olympic tryouts."

THERE ARE THREE OR FOUR BROKEN HEARTS ALONG THE CINDER TRAIL FOR EACH ATHLETE WHO SAILS TOMORROW BUT THAT'S PART OF THE OLD GAME.

There was a man in our town,
Who had broken hearts in his hands,
He never played the game,
He never said in his hands.

THE MOB SORE ON TUNNEY ATTITUDE

SEEMS to be as much interest in the empty approaching Tunney-Henry fight as there is in the coming election of the burghmaster of Copenhagen-Sweden. Nobody knows anything about it and nobody seems to care. Looks as if Tex Rickard has a fine growing town on his hands.

In the humble opinion of your correspondent, the reason for all this is the fact that Tunney has a fine growing town on his hands. The boys who will play anything to see a bit of an attack or a smacked ear would not be far from the mark. It doesn't intrigue them a bit to read that champion Gene is to take an English taking trip with a famous athlete.

The chance of success would be to persuade Tunney to step out of character and lick a couple of cops, or fast drivers. Then the gang would come back.

"Just Beat His Left— That's All, Tommy Boy"

Fall Haven, N. J., July 10 (AP)—All the way from New Zealand comes a bit of a scandal. For Tom Henry, an excellent bit of a fighter, has been told to beat his left. The boys who will play anything to see a bit of an attack or a smacked ear would not be far from the mark. It doesn't intrigue them a bit to read that champion Gene is to take an English taking trip with a famous athlete.

The chance of success would be to persuade Tunney to step out of character and lick a couple of cops, or fast drivers. Then the gang would come back.

BIG FIGHT MAY BE SELLOUT, AFTER ALL

By DAVID J. WALSH

New York, July 10—After painstaking inquiry into the situation, I am able to declare today that there is absolutely no interest in the Tunney-Henry heavyweight championship fight, scheduled for July 26, except among those who are going about saying that there is. I am therefore, am forced to the conclusion that the fight will play in a sell out, leaving those identified with it nothing to do but retire to a life of ease and great resignation.

The interest among those who say there is no interest has become almost amusing during recent days. As a matter of fact, if they were old and on end—well, as a matter of fact, if you did anything else to them you would be doing them a personal favor. Mr. Rickard does not plan to be so considerate. He expects to stand them out to heel on the town office and let nature take its course.

INTEREST WARNING UP

Anyhow, look a populous that is supposed to be interested toward the situation, there is an awful lot of people in this town intrigued by the question of whether the fight will make money or return Rickard a profit.

To be more explicit, will it or will it not? I'll admit this is a very exacting kind of a question, and while the boys are wondering about it, their abstraction trying to solve same, it seems possible that some few of them may find themselves in the Stadium on the night of the 26th in order to get the answer first hand.

The fight itself is no attraction as such. With real brains in his hands, he is no positive it is nothing, have made it something by their restlessness.

$350,000 ADVANCE SALE.

Rickard estimated yesterday that an advance sale has reached about $350,000. He reported that the sale would cover a million dollars, and that every body connected with it would make money. It is one thing to talk up a proposition in a newspaper quite another to make a full statement only two weeks ahead of time, leaving a door open for this to be remembered and held against you.

If Rickard waits until this late date to reaffirm his old estimate of the crowd and sale, it might be a second class idea to take his word for it, pending further developments.

Personally, I think he would prefer that you didn't. For then there would be nobody going around saying there was no interest in the fight, which unfortunately might prove that there was none.

Ed Hamm

PADDOCK GETS A CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH!

New York, July 10—Members of the United States Olympic team, ready to embark on the S. S. President Roosevelt tomorrow for the Amsterdam games, expressed their enthusiastic approval of Charlie Paddock's exoneration from charges of professionalism.

To great Californians was given a clean bill of health by Daniel J. Fretz, chairman of the national reorganization committee of the A. A. U.

Charlie admitted that he was relieved to be able to forget the charges which have been worrying him some time.

"I am glad to be exonerated. Now I can put my mind on getting ready to win at Amsterdam," said Charlie, who was going from the meeting of the board.

The gathering of the board was held only two members attending. Robert S. Weaver, president of the American Athletic Association, and Fretz.

A sale of affidavits, signed by Nicholas Schenk, theatrical producer, who showed Paddock's popularity in the States, and a letter from Franklin M. Baldwin, amateur producer, played a prominent part in the clearing of the sprinter.

These documents stated that "the Paddock" had never received any remuneration for his appearance in this picture or for his personal appearance on the stage with the children of the picture.

Mr. Weaver asked an affidavit to the effect that he had examined the Balkan and Schenk affidavits and certified to the action of the reorganization committee of the American Athletic Association, which had previously whitewashed Paddock.

Mr. Weaver made it known that several members of the athletic associations and the National A. A. U. were all told committee had shown absolute loyalty to Charlie's bona fides in a running panic in recent years.

They claimed that these panics were an indication of his desire for advertising and attention in connection with his theatrical career.

THE BROWNS GIVE BLOOD TO SAVE PAL

New York, July 10—The condition of Phil Neher, star pitcher of the local Sox, who was injured in yesterday's game with the Yankees, was reported today by doctors at Grace Hospital, and his parents in Scranton, Pa., were Big Ed him the leg with speed and control until he had a hefty march. Then the Sox were told to win. The large B. from the South looked like a million dollars every pitch.

The Sox players were a dispirited club and the Sox took advantage of every pitch they made. Earl Browne, who had pitched one of the best games in the Sox history, only gave the Sox back of him gave the natives three runs, two hits and a walk, but even along through constant pitches, until he was out of the game.

Then he gathered a shout for himself.

SOX LOSE FOUR-GAME SERIES TO BROWNS

By NICK FLATLEY

DAN HOWLEY brought his surprising Browns to Fenway Park this afternoon for a perfectly normal baseball series. Normal, that is in the matter of games to be played. The St. Louis sensations are here for four days and have only four games scheduled.

Now the program may be normal, but it is a catch that the Sox will be just the opposite. The Sox are in third place, and very anxious to get one more higher. They have a good, all-round ball club, plus mighty ambition.

The Red Sox, in the seventh place, are only two and a half games back of the first division. They feel they belong there and have a lot of desire and skill to get into the first division.

The Sox players are a dispirited club and the Sox took advantage of every pitch they made. Earl Browne, who had pitched one of the best games in the Sox history, only gave the Sox back of him gave the natives three runs, two hits and a walk, but even along through constant pitches, until he was out of the game.

Then he gathered a shout for himself.

Mr. Morris covered four innings of hitless ball, before he suffered this time he had a good one. After the Sox had pitched a few runs, the Sox were a dispirited club and the Sox took advantage of every pitch they made.

BROWNS IN CHIEF FOR FOUR GAMES

Chicago, Ill., July 10—With his pitching still erratic and wild, Rogers Hornsby is growing new guts trying to remove the kinks from the Browns.

They arrived here today for a series of four games with the Sox after losing three out of four to the Cardinals in St. Louis and without any prospects for improvement until the pitchers start to resemble major leaguers.

While the Sox are not riding high as the Cardinals, they form a tough assignment for a seventh place team. Hornsby is still hitting home runs and is ably supported by Rube Stephenson, Haven Cuyler, Charlie Grimm and Gabby Hartnett in denting the offense of the opposing pitchers.

When it comes to hitting the Sox have sufficient power on their side. For George Slaughter is proving to be a far from regular end of his string, and Hornsby continues to hammer the Sox sphere over the 400 feet.

As for the Cardinals, they piled the unusual feat of delivering 11 hits in 10 trips to the plate. Hornsby had 10 hits and drove in eight runs against his former manager. The Cardinals piled on the shoulders of the Browns through their double play. However, it is too much for even Slaughter and Hornsby to overcome.

While it is not known if the Sox have had the honor of creating a record in the history of the game, yesterday when there was an official count of 100 hits in the free turns of the Sox.

Course Slow for Start of Massachusetts Amateur

By BILL GRIMES
Manchester, July 10—Early this morning, the Massachusetts amateur championship contenders began to arrive at the Essex Country Club, where Eddie Lowery will defend the title he won at Charles River last season.

It is a happy condition for champions to events it was necessary to nurse the course for the state. The heavy rain has ruined Essex of much of its soil and it will be a harder task than it was to be in the short run.

KEEPING TEAM IN FIGHT

Dan Howley, manager of the St. Louis Browns, is here with his team for a series with the Red Sox. Dan has brought a mediocre club along and has it in third place now. He has the faculty of getting the best out of the team. And that is a prime requisite for a successful leader. Howley is popular with the Hub fans.

TWO TEAMS IN SECOND HALF RACE

The two teams started off at a snail's pace for the second half of the season. The Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns are the two teams in the second half of the season. The Red Sox are in third place and the St. Louis Browns are in fourth place. The two teams are in a second half race.

Women's Golf Champ to Retire in 1929

By MIRIAM BURNS HORN

EVER since winning the national golf championship last year there has been one thing worrying me, and that is—when can a champion retire from the game without fear of provoking discussion and possible criticism?

For some time now I have found it harder and harder to spare the necessary time to play in the various tournaments. To keep on one's game daily practice or playing is almost essential, but despite the enticement of friends, beseeching me to play more golf, I scarcely play at all this past spring.

The courses near home were in a deplorable condition due to the burning of the soil and it was impossible for me to go elsewhere. I had a very good year in 1927, but I had virtually decided to give it up. Then came victory in June, 1927, in the transatlantic tournament which, following my enforced year of a year, gave me renewed hopes and proved that my game had not suffered by the long rest. Still I decided to play only in the national during the balance of 1927, and when August came I started again with my club, ever fearful that something unexpected at home might prevent my going to New York.

But, with the Western being played a short distance from Chicago, I had long enough to play in that tournament, and then on to New York and the long hoped for transatlantic championship.

This complicated matters still further and shattered my plans to retire from competition. For it is almost compulsory to defend a national championship—or face possible criticism.

It was, and still is, impossible for me to play in many of the women's tournaments because of the time I must devote to my son and my home.

Therefore, I have decided to play the best golf of which I am capable in those tournaments I've entered, but regardless of the outcome of my matches and even if I again win the open title, I will not promise to defend the title the following year.

I think everyone needs a vacation occasionally, according to one's liking and mine is forthcoming in 1929.

COURTESY A VIRTUE

By LUCY LOWELL

COURTESY is, perhaps, the most valuable of all assets to the one who wishes a pleasant, smooth, thriving life, together with the liking and consideration of others.

Re man can lower himself by politeness whether it be accorded one considered an equal or one of the humblest—foreigner, perhaps, struggling to understand our language and our manners.

And this is equally true of women. Speak courteously to the peddler who knocks at your door and offers you his tray of needles, shoestrings, trunks you neither require nor desire. Forward at your irritation at being disturbed; remember that he, too, is a human being presumably trying to make a living.

Rear your safeguard of courtesy against rudeness and see how quickly the better thing goes down before your sure pole. To recent rudeness is to acknowledge that it strikes an answering note in you; true courtesy is never shaken by it.

Even stupidity must be met in the same manner if you would be at rights with yourself. To try to turn aside impudence with gruffness or with scorn is a waste of time for it will persist, giving way only before that in which it has no part—good breeding.

Do not think it a waste of effort to do little services others. Give information cheerfully and to the best of your ability; the more intelligence you can lend to others the richer in intelligence your life will grow. Good will build upon themselves, multiplying as they are used.

Try making a hobby of courtesy and see how much better you will feel.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

THERE are just five types of American wives, according to Mrs. C. C. Goodwin, of Chicago—the home-maker, or ideal wife; the jazz or can-can wife; the nagger, the drudge; the baby doll.

It was a fact the eligible man would have to go around with his fingers crossed. For picking a wife would be staking his life on the longest snafu in the world.

But women don't come that way. Most women are so highly strung, hankered after their faults and virtues are all mixed up. Many a perfect home-maker is a prize nagger, many an elegant nagger is a faithful drudge; and the oddest, fullest little baby doll may be an expert jazz artist and can-can dancer.

There is the big Curander, who looks so impressive, but is nothing but a dead weight, who permits his purring, noisy little tongue of a wife to tow him all the way up the stream of life.

And there is the "clinging vine" or maniacal goddess who marries to get a mother and is too delicate to work and too weak to sugar his own coffee or draw his own bath.

There is the Big, Big He-Man, or domestic bully, who keeps his wife in a perpetual state of cowed awe and palpitating fear.

And there is the sleek or Stopping Husband, who regards wife as a parking space where he can leave a woman until he gets through flitting around and ready to go home nights.

And finally there is the Regular Husband, who works hard all day, comes home promptly to dinner every evening, pays his bills, keeps his hair cut, picks up his own things and loves his own wife.

It's all a matter of what appeals to YOU and nobody can say which is the ideal Husband for ANY woman.

For one woman wants something to "mother," and another wants somebody that she can guide and steer and manage, and someone long for something to lean on and cling to.

And the Ideal Husband for YOU is the one you love and who makes you HAPPY, whether he's a hero or a bully or a grocer or a weakling or a saint. God gave us all favors and colors and combinations to suit our tastes!

There are fifty-seven varieties of husbands and wives. Pick your own combination!

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually acidic. The best way to get it quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method.

The Queen of Sports

Boston Men Engaged in as Picturesque a Yacht Race as Our Time Has Seen

Somewhere on the sea three tiny ships, sail-propelled, are bobbing to the breeze, or perchance becalmed, in as picturesque a race as our time has seen.

Dudley F. Wolf of Boston, owner of the Mohawk, has with him Jack Parkinson, Jr., Nick Biddle, Everard Eudt and Carl Karrow, while on the Isabella is Charles Townsend of Ipswich, Mass.

The crew of the Rofa, which today's dispatches report lost at sea, includes a woman sailor, Mrs. William Roos, wife of Capt. Roos, owner and commander of the craft. The six persons from the Rofa are now on the Anglo-American Oil Company's steamer Tuscarora, due in port within a few hours.

Following these yachts are five larger ones; the Atlantic, 185 feet; the Elena, 136.6 feet; the Guinevere, 195 feet; the Zodiac, 126.10 feet, and the Ansa, 112.8 feet. The Atlantic, which set a record for the course in 1905, is commanded by Charles Francis Adams of Boston. A crew of Gloucester fishermen man the Zodiac.

Nobody knows how long it will take the yachts to make the 3085 miles from Ambrose Light to Santander, Spain, where the winner is to receive a trophy from the Queen.

But probably much less time than it took the caravels of Columbus to sight the first land of our hemisphere in their epochal voyage in the opposite direction, 436 years ago, and certainly a great deal less than it took Henry Hudson to bring the Half Moon hither from Amsterdam.

Every schoolboy knows that it was on the sixty-ninth day out that the mutinous crew of Columbus reported land and that the more leisurely and docile Dutchmen who sailed with Hudson did not sight it until four months had gone by.

Human skill in ship designing and in seamanship has advanced greatly since their day. One of the present contestants, the Pinta, trim fifty-seven-footer of Capt. William J. Curtis, Jr., under another name last year negotiated the Atlantic to England in twenty-one days. A really remarkable feat when you consider how many steaming liners take half as much time.

But whenever the winner arrives, a fascinating bit of sportsmanship will have been added to the annals of the sea, and those sharing in its charms and hazards will be at once congratulated and envied.

For, say what you will, sailing is the queen of sports.

This Is for Ladies

Study the Leopard and Imitate Him

DOTS ARE THE FASHION. HERE ARE PINHEAD AND POLKA DOTS.

Dots are the fashion in Paris, and every woman will want to know it.

The leopard cannot change His spots, poor thing, but the lady CAN change hers often—and does. For that matter, she may have dropped the "dot," or spot, fashion entirely by the time this is printed. However, we are doing our best to supply fashion news and keep up with the changes. Man can do no more.

These big dots, little dots and the small "confetti dots" in the fashion below are all the rage.

How often women change. Sometimes it is STRIPES, sometimes it is FLOWERS on a dress. Then, again, CHECKS are fashionable and plaids and, occasionally, dots come in.

Woman, for mysterious good reasons known only to Providence, is struggling to achieve some end in costume. Probably, a few thousand centuries hence, she will settle down, as she did in Greece years ago, and realize that the IMPORTANT things are her FACE, her beautiful FIGURE and especially what she carried inside of her head.

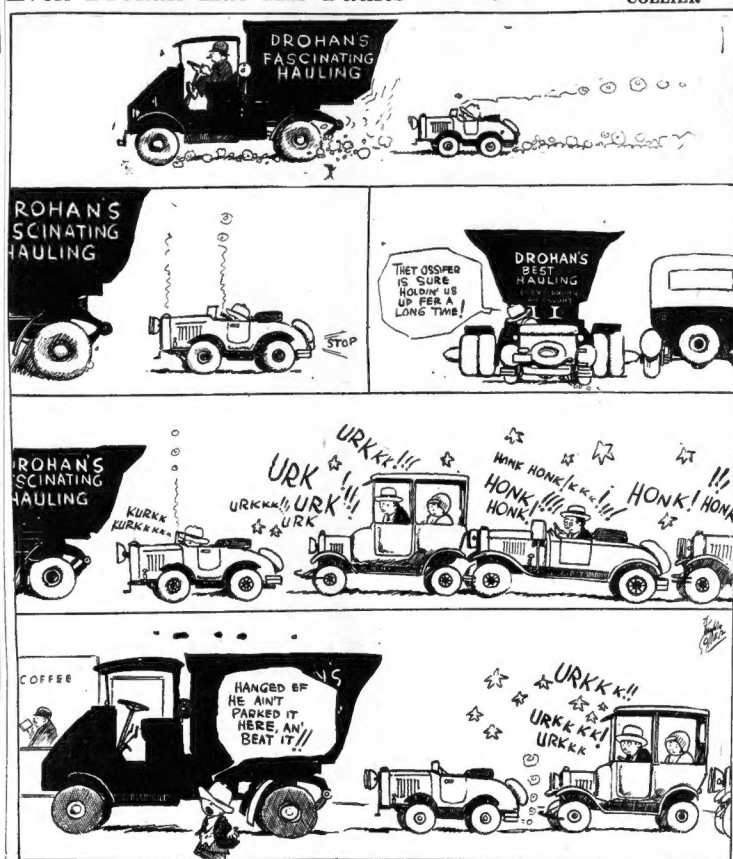

Just now, however, it is all OUTSIDE ADORNMENT.

Fancy clothes and FEW of them. Fancy shoes and MANY of them, paint, powder, lipstick, rouge.

But a wise Providence is back of it all. It is not for man to criticize, but to pay the bills as cheerfully as he can and ask himself patiently, "What next?"

THESE "CONFETTI DOTS" ARE CALLED "ULTRA-CHIC"

RACHEL AND GOD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

RACHEL was a Jewish girl. Her father was an orthodox Jew of the old type.

He was very strict and brought his daughter up according to all of the prohibitions of his peculiar code. Very early Rachel, who was inclined to be independent, rebelled at this, and in the course of time, when she was about 18 years old, she ran away.

She was a resourceful girl and made her own living and succeeded in going through college and receiving a degree.

Afterwards she was successful in getting a position in the city library.

She was holding this position and living in a little rented room nearby on a side street. She continued to be an atheist and to regard the idea of God and His commandments as a sort of tyrannical affair devised by the old to harass the young.

One night after being out at some entertainment she returned to her room about 11 o'clock. She climbed the stairs, unlocked the door and turned on the gas jet.

What was her surprise to find God sitting on a chair in the middle of the room. She knew it was God although she couldn't see His face, as it was rather blurred. But something in her told her it was He, this God that she had rebelled against and defied. She naturally thought He had come to punish her, so she fell down on her knees and began to pray to Him, repeating all the orthodox prayers she knew and asking for His mercy. He made no answer. Finally, in surprise, she said, "I am willing to serve you from now on, to do whatever you wish me to do. From henceforth I offer you my service if you will spare my punishment."

"I neither reward nor punish," said God. "God and bad deeds are their own rewards and punishment."

"Then I will serve you, anyway," said Rachel.

"What do I want with your service?" He replied.

"Kings and nations obey me, the waters, the hills, and all things. Why should I bother about your service? I do not want you to serve me."

"Then I will give you everything I have," said Rachel.

"I have a few hundred dollars in the bank and I will give that to your church tomorrow and a good part of all I have henceforth." She heard God laugh softly and He answered her.

"What do I want with it? I own all the money in the banks; eventually it comes back to me. I own all the gold in the mines, the silver. The cattle upon the thousand hills

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE these new 50-50 marriages an unmitigated blessing? Does a man put so much enthusiasm into home-making when his wife is working alone? Perhaps—but the letters received in this department do not indicate it. In an increasing number of cases hubby lies down on the job when the wife dies in. Here's one Dear Elsie:

I have been married for eight years and am still in my twenties. When we were married we had such wonderful ideas about going 50-50 in everything. I kept my job so we could get along splendidly. Then, a year ago, things began to go wrong. He felt he was "being tied down too much" and decided to stop out. Naturally I didn't like it, but when I interfere he says that he doesn't interfere when I want to go out, so why should I interfere with him? That is true, and yet I feel that there is something wrong about such an attitude, and now that we should share our pleasures and our friends and not build up separate interests.

It has gone so far that I know that he has been taking a girl out and posing as a single man. What do you think of that?

Yet, with all that, I have a great deal of love for my husband and really respect him. But he seems to have lost all interest in me and his wife actually prevented him from having normal marital experience.

Like a single man because he has never been forced to feel or act like a married man. He does not see things from a married man's viewpoint because he has never had to assume that viewpoint. By assuming joint financial responsibility, his wife actually prevented him from having normal marital experience.

A sick wife—financially dependent wife—couple of babies or a lot of bills might have made a married man out of him. Instead, his wife has allowed him to remain what he is.

There's one aspect of our modern domestic program. Think it over, "Couple, live, or kind feature for, live."

are mine and all the fishes in the sea. What do I want with your few dollars?"

"Then what are you here for?" said Rachel.

"I am here for the same reason I am everywhere else in my universe, to see how I can help you. That is my business. I am not the ruler of the universe sitting on some far-off throne. I am keeping the universe alive, making the rivers run and the sun rise and being on water, caring for everything. What I want to do is to find out how I can help you. That is all the interest I have in you."

"If I did not understand," said Rachel.

"I thought you didn't," said God, and vanished.

New York Day by Day

O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 10.—The spiritual distortion of the younger generation has provided an endless theme for writers, playwrights and novelists. If they are to be believed, flaming youth is burning out in a white hot flame. New York is painted a paradise of adolescent wickedness.

The moment a child is able to reach for a cocktail here he begins to scamper off on a simulated career. The girl who reaches 13 without being trifled off to an alcoholic cure is regarded as eccentric. At least this has become a growing notion.

Somewhat the other side of the picture is never revealed. There is a young man of 20 who is studying dentistry. At 5 o'clock every evening he becomes a taxi driver until midnight. He reaches his college every morning at 8 and supports his mother.

There are two sisters who are waitresses in one of the chain of restaurants. Their working hours are from 11 to the evening until midnight. On account of their beauty they have had three theatrical offers from Ziegfeld no less. They support themselves as waitresses and do social trifles with dignity during the day.

The younger generation is not going to pot is also proved by the large number of ambitious young men who are working as waiters, elevator operators, movie salesmen and janitors and devoting spare time to studying for a profession. These are in New York in the thousands.

Nor is this ambitious activity confined to men and daughters of poverty-stricken homes. A recent social survey shows there are in New York more than 20,000 young men and women under 25 whose Communist influence precludes the necessity of working yet who have become financially independent.

And if one takes the trouble to visit the various social centers where intellectual attainments are possible for control, because it will find them crowded, indeed far from crowded, with a few of the young men and women who are supposed to be flung away from morals and hope.

ONE of the well-known illustrators has his studio adjoining his home and he has to turn out his enormous magazine output. Recently his wife employed a new maid. After a few days of seeing the artist around the house all day, the maid approached her mistress with the suggestion she would take a slight reduction in salary. "I'll do this," she explained, "until your husband gets on his feet."

THE block in West 67th street running off of Central Park West houses more artists and illustrators than any other block in town. The artist who lives there and rents all the apartment buildings are the north light studio type.

AMONG the artists who have lived in the block is the artist center on West 67th street are Penryth Standish, Howard Chandler Christy, James Montgomery Flagg, W. T. Benda, Harrison Fisher, J. Knowles Hill, Coles Phillips, E. M. Brinkhoff, Ray Bohn, Doris Corwell, Harry F. Hays, and Maxfield Parrish.

AN actor reveals a discouraging side of his calling. He is a popular leading man and has appeared in many sterling productions. One play in which he appeared on Broadway ran 18 months. For the past two years he has had but three weeks' employment and while his salary was $500 a week he finds his pay averages much less than a small clerkship. But boys will be actors.

THEATRICAL salaries appear to be dropping. But unless employment is steady they are often far below the average wage.

FOR years I have been among the theater while ambulatory. I have seen many a man who has a hasty exit when the curtain falls. Last night the wren turned. With the croak of my own I caught a fall around the ankle who had pivoted on both my lumbar, and it was time he went into the aisle, high hat, cane and all. It was a new time in the time, but we of the Northwest Mounted always get off man.

Death? Certainly

Pistol Shot! Never

A man in New York jumped overboard, tired of life. A policeman threw him a rope; he wouldn't take it. He refused the rope three times. Then the policeman, having exhausted his resources, became a policeman, pulled his revolver and said, "Come on ashore, or I will put a bullet in you."

The would-be suicide, a sailor, came ashore. He wanted to die, but DIDN'T want to be shot.

Fear of death in certain forms is interesting. One man became so afraid of death that he walked along a tree trunk, brown as a deep chasm, shot himself dead. Another killed himself to avoid the danger of a duel.

And nearly all of us fear THOUGHT, mental effort, more than we do death itself, and strive to get through life avoiding it.

Hostages to Fortune

A Singularly Advanced Form of Economic Slavery

A Chicago father has his sick child taken to a hospital. The child is given good care and gets well enough to go home. The hospital seeks to retain the child until the hospital bill is paid. What do you think?

It is as if a business institution as a department store or a factory. If its charges are not paid it cannot continue in business. Nevertheless, the idea of retaining a patient, and particularly a child patient, as security is one of the most singularly repellent that we have seen advanced. It is reminiscent of peonage; it is a singularly advanced form of economic slavery.
